They are enterprising men, and their liberal action does them great credit.

The Florence Canal Company.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Florence Canal and Water Company was held in Florence, last Monday and all the affairs of the Company were adjusted. The company was reorganized under the name of the Florence Canal Company, and its capital stock was raised to $500,000. The new company subscribed for all the stock; purchased all property and assumed all liabilities of the Florence Canal and Water Company, and all outstanding indebtedness.

The following are the new directors: elected: T. J. Wrampelmeir, W. N. Crandall, R. H. Martin, John Vaile and W. J. Linville. Subsequently Mr. T. J. Wrampelmeir was elected President and W. N. Crandall, Treasurer and acting Secretary. W. K. Stone, Esq., was authorized to enter into provisional contracts with consumers of water along the completed portion of the canal for the purpose of cultivating their lands this winter, the terms subject to the approval of the Board of Directors.

Arrangements are to be at once made for the completion of the canal its entire distance and contracts will be entered into within a month for construction.

After arranging for the money to meet the expense of continuing the construction work on the Florence canal, it is reported that the company will award contracts for its early completion to the lands that are already taken up along its intended course. Beyond that point the exact location of the canal is somewhat indefinite, and until further surveys are made it would be an uncertain venture to file upon remote lands with the expectation of receiving water from the canal.

The company does not wish to make any misleading inducements by which settlers will suffer any losses and it is therefore proper that the exact route of the canal be first determined before entries are made along its supposed course. It is permanently located and will be speedily constructed to the center of township 5, range 9 south, but beyond that no one now knows exactly where it will run.

The farmers of the Gila valley about Florence should devote more attention to fruit culture and experiments in expanding the production of the orchard to every possible variety of fruits. Nothing pleases the eye of a stranger better than the sight of vast orchards of healthy and robust trees loaded down with tempting fruits and, as first impressions are the most lasting, the stranger should be delighted upon beholding this beautiful valley. It is, however, almost too much to expect of many farmers in the valley whose fields are greater with alfalfa than change from a sure net income of fifty dollars per acre per year and upwards, for uncertain experiments in fruit raising, but the owners of the new lands along the canal ought certainly to plant trees in preference to alfalfa. It is a line of product that cannot be overdone for the market is always active, particularly for fruits that ripen a month earlier than the same varieties do in California.

Any one having a little money to invest in real estate can reap a rich harvest by purchasing lots in the Western Addition at the prices they are now offered for and holding them for a year. The appreciation in prices will return the cost many times over in that time.

Death of J. D. Rittenhouse.

While it was generally known that Mr. J. D. Rittenhouse was a very quiet man, the people were startled last night by the news of his death, which took place at fifteen minutes after seven o'clock.

Mr. Rittenhouse was born in Washington, D. C., and was educated in that city, and for a number of years occupied a position in the War Department. He came to Arizona in 1872 and resided for a time at Yuma and later on established a trading post at the Pima agency. His business flourished so well that two years ago he added to his business an establishment in Florence, having purchased the store of W. C. Smith.

He was a careful and enterprising business man and achieved success in all his ventures and he leaves to his sorrowing wife and two small children a handsome legacy of wealth but a far greater one of a good name that will always be a comfort to them.

He was a member of Florence Lodge No. 4, A. O. U. W., and of Ivanhoe Legion No. 2, Select Knights, and held beneficiary certificates in both. His funeral will take place this afternoon under the auspices of the above named societies.

He was one of the most enterprising and public spirited among the residents of Florence and his untimely loss is indeed a public calamity.

May his rest be the sweet sleep of peace and his awakening the sum of man's immortal glory.

"This place is growing and shows signs of prosperity; they are making plenty of babies in every direction," said an observing gentleman who arrived in Florence a few days ago. He reasoned that where building material was in course of preparation in such abundance that it was in obedience to a demand, and he was eminently correct. The unmistakable signs all portend unusual activity in building and even now there are fifteen or twenty new houses in the various stages of construction about town. The growth of Florence during the coming year will be phenomenal, although it is but the beginning of the great season of activity that will mark the boom that Florence will surely experience.

It is intimated that one or two fine business blocks are to be built on Main street this winter. The material used will be brick and the structures will be an ornament to the town. The place is outgrowing the adobe and the new class of buildings will supplant its use. The adobe does not make an attractive nor a clean building and eastern people find it somewhat repulsive in appearance. Brick costs a little more, but in point of solidity, durability, comfort and appearance it is vastly superior to the adobe and is therefore the cheapest building material in the end. It is hoped that all new buildings of any pretensions will be built of brick and the unsightly adobe discarded.

Some of the land owners along the Florence canal are arranging to at once put a portion of their possessions under cultivation. But little clearing is required and the mellow soil is easily broken and prepared for a crop. Over a thousand acres of new land will be under cultivation along this canal this fall and much more will be cleared and prepared for spring crops. The land owners are determined to put their possessions into proper shape to prove up and secure titles thereto.

The people of Tucson will make the word presentation to General Miles the occasion of a grand ovation to that distinguished officer, and delegations from all parts of the Territory will attend. The formal presentation will take place at 4 p. m., next Tuesday, to be followed by a banquet in the evening. The following night the society of Arizona Pioneers will hold a meeting at General Miles will be their honored guest. Every one who can attend should do so and by their presence an appreciation of the General's services in behalf of Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ochoa gave a birthday party Thursday afternoon to little Miss Tula Ochoa, on the occasion of her eight birthday. Fifteen or twenty young folks were present and they enjoyed themselves most heartily. A sumptuous supper was served and everything was done that was possible to make them all happy. Miss Tula was the recipient of many pretty presents from her guests, and they one and all wish her many returns of the occasion.

At last there is a likelihood that Tucson will have a smelter. Mr. R. H. Paul, owner of the Columbia smelter, has offered to remove his plant to that city in consideration of a loan of $5,000 to be repaid at the rate of $1 per ton of ore treated. At a meeting of the business men of Tucson held recently $4,000 was subscribed in a few minutes and the full amount required will be forthcoming very shortly. Tucson is to be congratulated.

A private letter received by a gentleman in Florence from Mammoth states that three shifts of miners are now at the shaft with the intention of going down three hundred feet to thoroughly explore the ore body with a view to test the quantity of ore and to ascertain by analysis the best method of reducing it. This is to be done with a view to increasing the capacity of the mill to one hundred stamps.

New Stock of goods at Weedin & Meek's.

Advices from Silver King are to the effect that the Crispin mill has started up, running during the day only. The mill is capable of reducing from 30 to 25 tons of ore per day. Drifts are being run in the Crispin from the 100 level to the southwest fifty feet and to the northeast forty feet. A contract is to be let for sinking another hundred feet when levels will be run and stopping commenced. The property looks very encouraging.

Professor Thomas Price examined the Mammoth mine last week, and the company will sink 300 feet more to determine whether the character of the ore will change or not. In the meantime they will experiment and decide upon the best method of treatment. The mill was running at profit when they shut down, but they were losing too much in the tailings.—Citizen.

Hotlick's Food at Weedin & Meek's.

Mr. E. Mayhew and his son, William Mayhew, of Keokuk, Iowa, arrived on Monday to spend the winter in Florence with the intention of making this their future home. Mr. Mayhew is a skillful brick mason and will take contracts for building any style of edifice built from that material. They are cordially welcomed to the land of sunshine and silver.

Among the visitors to Florence this week were Messrs. T. J. Wrampelmeir, of San Diego, D. S. Thomas of Carthage, Mo., W. N. Crandall of San Bernardino, Cal., and Dr. J. H. Hurley, of San Bernardino, all stockholders and directors in the Florence Canal Company.

Alden's Manifest Cyclopaedia of Knowledge and Language.

One of the most extraordinary literary enterprises of the age is the work which bears the above title.

The specimen pages which the publisher sends free to any applicant, show the type which is used—a good clear-faced Brevier; also the form—"Ideal" for convenience, easy for the eye, handy to hold. The volumes will average about 640 pages each and will probably be about thirty of them—the "manifest" number will not be inconvenient; when you consult a Cyclopaedia you are supposed to know what "title" you are looking for; the lettering on the back of each volume tells you at a glance what titles will be found within, so you do not look in the wrong one—and the volumes are so "handy" you quickly turn to the sought-for page.

There will be several thousand illustrations—no "more pictures," but everything of importance that will serve to illustrate.

The Manifest Cyclopaedia is to be much more than a "Cyclopaedia of Universal Knowledge"; it will embody also a Dictionary of the English Language—including every word which has any claim to a place in the language. How often you have consulted Appleton's or Chambers' or Johnson's Cyclopaedia and failed to find the title you were looking for—then consulted Webster's Unabridged and were successful; the word belonged to the Dictionary rather than to the Cyclopaedia. Or you have consulted Webster, and found little more than a mere definition of the word you were looking for. The Manifest Cyclopaedia will fill a corner of your knowledge which is illustrated by the English Language—and its cost is within your reach, only 50 cents a volume for cloth binding, 65 cents for half morocco!

In this age of the world, no general Cyclopaedia or Dictionary can be in any sense "original"—each new compilation, if it has merit, is based upon the knowledge found embodied in all its predecessors. "Knowledge" as set forth in books cannot be monopolized by "patent" or "copyright"—only the form of embodiment can be thus covered. The latest discoveries (or imaginings) of the scientists, the latest "finds" (or frauds) of the archaeologists, the latest theories of the political economists—all are subject to the "sight drafts" of the latest Encyclopedia. Alden's Manifest Cyclopaedia undertakes to combine in the most convenient and yet full and yet full and economical form possible, the results of the scholarship of the world, up to the time of its publication. Availing itself most of the labors of its predecessors who have accomplished the best results, the Manifest Cyclopaedia, draws more largely from Chambers' than from any other of the family of Cyclopedias, and more largely from Stormonth than from any other of the family of Dictionaries—the Chambers' is an acknowledged model for a Cyclopaedia; but it is adapted particularly to England rather than to America; Stormonth is acknowledged peer of Webster, Worcester, the Imperial, and Murray, as an authority, but without a peer in the combined qualities of conciseness, clearness, and accuracy of learning. No authorities, however, are blindly followed, but effort is carefully made to bring all matters to the generally accepted standard of the most eminent American, rather than foreign, scholarship.

Editorial talent second to none in America, in experience and skill is engaged in the conduct of the work; the publisher's past experience in Cyclopaedia making (notably in the Library of Universal Knowledge, now known—trebled in price—as the International Cyclopaedia) is good basis for the pledge he makes to the public that the Manifest will be inferior to no other Cyclopaedia in any of the important qualities of a popular guide to knowledge. Specimen pages free, or a specimen volume may be ordered and returned if not wanted. John B. Alden, Publisher, 393 Pearl Street, New York.

Saved His Life.

Mr. D. L. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave Ky., says he was, for many years, badly afflicted with Pthisis, also Diabetes; the pains were almost unendurable and would sometimes almost throw him into convulsions. He tried Electric Bitters and got relief from first bottle and after taking six bottles, was entirely cured. He had gained in flesh eighteen pounds. Says he positively believes he would have died, had it not been for the relief afforded by Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by J. D. Rittenhouse.

Of the four convicts killed at Yuma Thursday 27th, three—Puebla, Yaquez and Padilla—were from Pinal county. The first were taken to Yuma less than three weeks since, by Duponts Kreshan and Underwood. Yaquez and Padilla were thirty years men, but Padilla was in for five years only. He was considered a sort of all around thief, and as well known in Florence as here. His last exploit was the Gregory robbery of which so much was said at the time. Jose Lopez, another of the dead murderers, is said to be a boy 16 years of age, sent up from Cochise county for thirty years, from Cuernavaca in 1879.—Citizen.

Among the visitors to Florence this week were Messrs. T. J. Wrampelmeir, of San Diego, D. S. Thomas of Carthage, Mo., W. N. Crandall of San Bernardino, Cal., and Dr. J. H. Hurley, of San Bernardino, all stockholders and directors in the Florence Canal Company.

THE PENITENTIARY.

Desperate Convicts Attempt Escape. (Yuma Sentinel.)

The attempted break from the Territorial Prison on Thursday last, was one of the boldest and most sanguinary in the history of that institution. About midday on the morning, as Mr. Gates was leaving the prison, and just as he ordered the gate keeper to let him out of the North alley port, convict Librado Puebla pinioned his arms from behind and marched on the astonished officer before him, expecting to shield himself in that way from the guns of the guards; this movement was followed by seven other Mexican prisoners rushing out, one of whom Jose Lopez, running into the office opposite, where he broke open Mr. Gates' desk and secured a revolver. He soon reappeared on the scene and opened fire upon Hartlee on the Tank station. Hartlee at the time in obedience to the orders of Mr. Gates, being engaged in firing at the devil holding the Superintendent and succeeded in hitting Puebla twice. Upon being wounded Puebla stabbed Mr. Gates and Rule appearing on the scene leapt at Lopez, who pluckily replied and soon fell shot by both Hartlee and Rule. As he dropped Barney Riggs rushed out and without any hesitation picked up the revolver; not noticing the bullets which were flying around pretty lively, he stepped up to Gates' would-be assassin and gave him the contents of the revolver. The man dropped dead, and the kindly disposed Rule immediately attended to the seriously hurt officer. In the meantime Hartlee shot a convict as he was turning the corner, and Dick Reynolds caught another with a plunger as he ran down the road side. The Captain of the yard Fred Freely was at the time having a rattling setto with Rivera, who was endeavoring to stick a pick into Freely's head; Freely succeeded in throwing his arms around him, and they both fell down the embankment some twenty feet. Whilst this was going on Assistant Behan who was inside the prison attending to his duties, arrived on the scene, and soon convinced Mr. Freely's antagonist to "let up." John Markle who lives to one side of the hill heard the rumpus and came out stopping a convict on his way down the road; shortly after being stopped the man dropped and propped to the seriously wounded. Annie Regel and August Green were on hand and secured two of the run-aways, although from their position they could not shoot. Five of the eight convicts were shot, and three unhurt, and not a single prisoner lost. The officers one and all are to be complimented upon their coolness and the thorough manner with which they attended to business. Those of the brutal force who escaped death and have caused Thomas Gates to be so seriously wounded should be brought before the district court and given an additional term of imprisonment, as the laws of the Territory provide.

The Third Crop.

Phoenix Gazette.

The Fowler brothers, of this city, have at their office a box of muscat grapes, the third yield of the season, and they are equal in size to the best in the land. These grapes were taken from the ranch of these gentlemen some twelve miles west of Phoenix, where ripe grapes were picked as early as the 19th of July last. The land occupied by this family is considered the garden spot of the Salt River, and certainly no better or more productive fruit lands can be found on the Pacific coast. A country that can produce three thrifty crops of grapes each year, surely cannot be excelled in fruit raising in the country.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottle free at J. D. Rittenhouse.

A splendid line of hats, including stylish Derbys, just opened at Rittenhouse's.

Messrs. Thos. F. Weedin and Aaron Mason returned Monday night from an attempt to reach the rich gold find spoken of two weeks ago. When they reached Globe Mr. Mason was taken very ill and several days elapsed before he recovered sufficiently to travel homeward. They will make another attempt to find the rich mines in a short time.
